THE COAL STRIKE

An exchange says that the coal strike would soon end if the women had to vote. This is at least one instance when everybody would endorse the suffragettes, and that they had the privilege of settling this strike. It's the poor miners' wives and children that are the greatest sufferers in the long run by these prolonged strikes. Generally the officials of the unions have fat salaries, and it pays them to keep up the strikes. Even at a much higher wage it will take the miners many, many months hard labor to even gain up to the financial position they were in before the strike. It is a foregone conclusion that whatever the increase in the rate of wages given to the men the consumer will have to pay the piper. That will be a substantial excuse enough to the operators to raise the price of coal; but the consumer has to leave it at whatever cost.

It is said the government have decided to suspend the duty on coal coming into Canada. If this action had been taken by the government months ago, in all probability the strike would have been settled long ago.

It is a blessing the strike did not occur at the commencement of the winter, or the consequences might have been disastrous. As it is, it will prove very serious.

July Rainfall Beats Former Years

In spite of the fact of many of the farmers of Southern Alberta that 1911 would be another dry year, the records to July 31st go to show that the contrary is the case. No more rain is needed from this time forward until late in the fall, when rains will serve to help winter wheat, but as far as the crops are concerned there has been plenty of moisture to ensure the grain filling well, while the soil is in excellent condition for breaking.

We give below the precipitation records for the month of July during the past four years:

July 1908.....	41 inches
July 1909.....	1.04 "
July 1910.....	2.80 "
July 1911.....	2.33 "

The total rainfall for the seven months ending July 31st for the past three years shows 1911 in the lead.

1909.....	9.48 inches
1910.....	2.80 "
1911.....	11.92 "

What is needed now is hot harvest weather, and although a lot of moisture has fallen lately, the records go to show that August is almost always a dry month, giving a maximum amount of warm weather. However, up to the present writing there is reason to believe that this year will be an exception in this respect.

The Claresholm council were caught napping the other day, when they licensed a three tented show to come to that town one day ahead of their agricultural society's fair and pick up all the odd dollars floating around that town and district, and get out of town with the boodle, leaving the fair to take what might possibly be left. That's local patriotism with a vengeance!

Why They Come to the West

It has been said that the nineteenth century was the century of the United States, but the twentieth century will be the century of Canada. The statement was no idle boast. One tenth of the century is gone, but no one will have the temerity to say that the prediction is not being fulfilled. And to the Canadian West the fulfilment means more than to any other part of Canada. It means the development of those resources whose possibilities no man has ever been able to more than hint at. It has been estimated that not more than one per cent. of the tillable land of the Western provinces is under cultivation. And yet the West this year will produce, if the estimates are correct, in the neighborhood of two hundred millions of bushels of grain, thus entrenching Canada more firmly than ever in her position as one of the leading grain producing countries of the world.

The production of such a large crop in a country which is yet comparatively young, seems to be a step towards the fulfilment of the predictions as to Canada's future. It is drawing the eyes of all nations to this wonderful land. It is a magnet which attracts settlers from every nation, and Canada extends the hand of welcome and says "Come." Canada needs the settler. Every desirable immigrant increases the national wealth by hundreds of dollars. Development means wealth, but for development the settler is an absolute necessity.

Commenting on the reasons why the Canadian West has proved such a magnet to the American farmer, the Boston News Bureau says that they are not far to seek, and sets forth specific instances which prove beyond a doubt that Western Canada is as a Mecca to the American farmer. It says: "A certain agriculturalist lived twenty years in Kansas. Five years ago he bought 180 acres of land at Fincher Creek. Two years ago he grew 8000 bushels of wheat off 200 acres, and sold it for $5600. Last year he raised 12,000 bushels off 250 acres and sold it for $10,000, or 85 cents a bushel. His profits from 250 acres of wheat in Alberta last year was greater than all his profits from farming during twenty years in Kansas."

Swat the Mosquito, Too, or Rub on Soft Soap when he Nips

Next to the house fly the mosquito is our pestest pest. Some say the mosquito should head the list, because the effect of its visit can be felt, while that of the fly isn't apparent until later.

Be this as it may, the government has taken the skeeter in hand and Dr. L. O. Howard, government entomologist, has issued a monograph telling how to cure the bite of the Hackensack night-ingle.

Dr. Howard admits he doesn't know for sure how to keep the insect from a peaceful sleeper. But, says he, after you have been stung grab a handful of soft soap and apply it to the puncture. Relief is quick.

Many suggestions are offered to keep away mosquitoes, but in almost every case the preventative is worse than the result. One ounce each of castor oil, oil of lavender and alcohol will keep the insect away while the odor lasts, but it evaporates before dawn when the mosquitoes are busiest.

The Japanese advise burning orange peel in bedrooms. The odor, while not unpleasant to mortals, is abhorrent to the insects.

Unless carried on strong winds mosquitoes seldom get more than 200 feet from their own habitation. Stagnant pools quickly breed mosquitoes, and municipalities should do away with such places. When mosquitoes are on ceilings a shallow tin filled with kerosene and attached to a stick can be placed against the ceiling and the insect, overcome by the fumes, will drop into the oil and die.

The number of homesteads and pre-emptions recorded at the government land offices during July was 220, compared with 235 in the same month last year; the number of homesteads was 182, compared with 169 last year; South African scrip 28, compared with nil last July; pre-emptions 28, compared with 31 last July; purchased homesteads 17, compared with 31 in July, 1910.

Sound Advice

FARMER—Well wife, the barn wants painting, the fence is down, the chickens are in the garden, the doors are off the granary, the pump's no good, we haven't a knife that we can cut the meat, the incense is full of holes, the house is swarming with flies, the chickens are covered with lice, we haven't got a decent chair to sit on, the buggy squeaks worse than a German band, the cows swallowed the wire stretchers, and the pig eat the hammer. I think we'll quit farming.

WIFE—Let us go and see McMeekin & Scragg and get the place fixed up. We're going to have a good crop this year, and I know the boys will treat us right.

Spring Finds the Human System

Loaded With Impurities, Which Cause Pains, Aches and Feelings of Fatigue

When the Liver and Kidneys Are Overworked and Break Down

Get Them Right by Using

KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

In the spring the human system is loaded with poisons which have accumulated as a result of a winter life. There has been too much breathing of poisonous indoor air, too little outdoor exercise, too much eating of heavy indigestible food, especially too much meat and too little fruit.

The liver and kidneys struggle to overcome this condition, but the task is too great for them. They get sluggish and torpid, fail in their work and often cause trouble for themselves.

They must have help which is given them by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. There is no great mystery of how these pills purify the blood and take away the cause of dizziness, spring fevers, headache, bodily pains or derangements of the digestive system.

If the blood is so be purified the liver and kidneys must do it. And they will, if you awaken their action by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It will not take long to get these blood filters into working order if you use this treatment. A few hours will bring improvement and you will learn how to keep these organs healthy and active. One pill a day, 25c. a box, at all druggists. Dr. Chase, Boston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

AN AMAZING MARRIAGE.

"Duchess of Kingston" Was a Celebrated 18th-Century Character.

Elizabeth Chudleigh, Maid of Honour to the Hon. Mrs. Hester, Duchess of Kingston and Countess of Bristol, lives in history, or in historical gossip, by her "amazing marriage" with Duke of Kingston. To be correct, she should be described as the Duchess of Kingston, as her famous husband was the Duke of Kingston.

In the end decided by the House of Commons, as a previous marriage with Mr. Hester, afterwards Earl of Bristol, was good and still subsisted. The lady had therefore committed bigamy.

The year was 1778, and the law allowed branding in the hand as an incident of the sentence; but it also allowed benefit of clergy to be pleaded. This was done, and the sentence then pronounced by the Lord High Steward was—"I am therefore now to tell you, that if you should ever be guilty of a similar offence, or of any crime amounting to felony, or to a claim of life, be again allowed, but that you will thereby incur a capital punishment. I am further to inform you that the law and justice which the law has allowed to you of your rank and condition is that you are no longer a prisoner, and that you are no longer a prisoner."

Lord Bristol wanted a divorce, but the Countess had by collusion obtained a decree of nullity in the House of Commons. Four years ago, when the Countess wanted to marry the Duke of Kingston, she had to prove that she was not married to the Duke of Kingston. But she could not prove it, and she was therefore declared a divorcee.

Profane Silence

The other day upon the links a distinguished clergyman was playing a club, and he was playing a club.

He carefully took up his ball and addressed it to the most approved caddy. He raised his driver and hit the ball a tremendous clip, but instead of soaring to the most approved caddy, it went twelve feet to the right and then turned around in a circle.

The clergyman frowned, scowled, and then he said to the caddy: "Don't say anything to these clerics. Advice has spoiled many a caddy."

Don't go to the seaside where you will have to mix with the vulgar herd. Don't go away with a chum if you expect to keep him as a friend.

Don't mix with strangers because you will have to be polite to them, and it will be difficult to find anything in common.

Don't go to or with relatives as they more they see of you the more they'll knock you.

Don't go to the country and be eaten by mosquitoes and choked with heat. Don't go to the mountains and be lonely.

Mr. Schuber of Iowa has been in our midst for a few days, looking over the country, and is more than pleased with the prospects. He has been travelling through Missouri, Kansas and Dakota the past few months, but finds nothing to compare to our Sunny Alberta.

The rains have been very prevalent during the past week and it is felt that there is now quite sufficient moisture to last until after the harvest. What is wanted now is plenty of dry weather and plenty of warm sun during the next two or three weeks to complete the bumper harvest in this district.

The rain continues to fall and every person is praying for warm weather so that the grain will get a chance to ripen. If some of the newspapers in this district that claim they brought on the rain in June, when it was needed, by saying "come again rain," would stop the rain by saying "stop rain," they would be conferring a great favor on an anxious public.

A timely warning is that sent out to farmers to plough over their fireguards at once, and to widen them by an extra furrow or two while they are about it. When the long and luxuriant prairie vegetation which has sprung up under the influence of this year's abundant moisture dries down, the risk of disastrous prairie fires will be considerable. Be prepared.

The reception held for Rev. and Mrs. Mann and family, also for Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Scragg was largely attended on Wednesday evening last. The music was enjoyed by all, and eloquent addresses were delivered by Rev. J. M. Beaton, Rev. Mann and F. H. Scragg. The latter gentleman gave a very impressive address, advising all the young men in the district to elope. The Hustler understands there are quite a few of the bachelors taking Fred's advice. Do you note the smile worn by many of the fair sex since 7—sure.

The advance agent of a three-ringed circus, showing in a neighboring town, sent us last week about half a column of advertising reading matter to insert in the Hustler, offering us in payment two tickets to the show if we went to the town in question and presented to the head cock-a-lorum there two marked copies of the Hustler containing his advertising matter, we, of course, to pay our own railway fare and hotel bill, in order to get the two tickets. Yet some people will tell us that the country newspaper is a money-maker.

Says Herron May Not Run

Mr. John M. Glendenning, M. L.A., of Nanton, was in Raymond on Friday last in the interests of the P. Burns Co., and at lunch with the correspondent of the Lethbridge Herald he touched on matters political in his conversation. Mr. Glendenning is of opinion that John Herron, M.P., will again be named for Conservative candidate, but believes he will not accept it, and even if he does that his defeat in Macleod constituency will be certain. The name of Dr. Warnock, M.L.A. for Pincher Creek, has been freely mentioned as the Liberal candidate, and Mr. Glendenning believes him to be the strongest man possible for the office. The Nanton member also stated that there was no doubt as to the majority of the Macleod constituents favoring reciprocity.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR Western Canada College, Calgary
This well known Resident and Day College for Boys has just closed another very successful year. The attendance has steadily increased and the total registration for the year is 175 boys between the ages of ten and twenty. Many of these students have written the June matriculation examinations for Alberta and McGill Universities. The results of the McGill examinations just received are very gratifying, one lad taking 6th place in all Canada in a large field of candidates. The results of the examinations for the Royal Military College held for Western Canada College has just been issued, and a Western Canada College boy has taken the highest marks in Western Canada. During the year the Staff was increased. The most important addition, however, has been in the gymnasium. This building has been fitted up in the latest and best manner under the care of an expert. A special instructor from Cambridge University, England, has been engaged. His whole time is given to the training and instruction of the boys.

Their first annual gymnastic exhibition, or assault at arms, was a great surprise to parents and friends. The College continues its success in sending its boys to the Universities and into the various leading business houses. The College authorities are making preparations to sell the present property and move to the new college premises. It will take some time, of course, to perfect plans and erect buildings on the new property of thirty-five acres, but no expense will be spared to get the most improved, the best equipped and most sanitary buildings, both for residence and class room requirements. The college will need these improvements, for it is the oldest, the largest and the best known college of its kind in Canada west of the lakes. It was founded before Alberta and Saskatchewan became provinces, and its record of success in preparing lads for college and business is amply testified by the high places taken, the scholarships won, and the testimonies received.

NEW TEN COMMANDMENTS

For Husbands and Wives

FOR WIVES

(By Gertrude Le Blanc)
Never allow Filings to attend your husband in what concerns bodily welfare.

See that his clothes are ready each day and befitting the season of the year.

Assume the qualities of a barometer that you may foresee the electric disturbances which visit every menage.

When your husband is in a bad temper don't develop similar symptoms, but when he is merry imitate him unflinching.

Don't fondle him before meal time—kisses to a hungry man are as soap bubbles to a parched throat.

Use your tongue only in agreement; disapproval is best expressed with the eyes.

If your husband has the gout don't insist on walking.

If you wish to convince him that you are a better actress than Bernhardt and a sprightly dancer than Paviowa, show him that you are a better cook than Escoffier.

A wife's duties are, among others, to smooth over domestic rills—a man never admits he is in the wrong—to attend to the household finances, and to have an eye for the week after next.

Finally, never lose sight of the fact in making all these sacrifices, that, if man supports the family, woman is his superior in far more ways than he is hers.

FOR HUSBANDS

(By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow)

Never allow anyone to be more important to your wife's comfort and amusement than you yourself.

Notice her clothes at least once or twice a season, instead of only noticing the bills.

Though you cannot foresee your wife's moods, and perhaps can not always sympathize with them, try to understand and be silent.

When she is cross be consolingly, but not provokingly cheerful.

Don't call her "my dear" when there are guests at dinner, and "yuh" all the rest of the time.

Disagree with her opinions if you like, but don't make fun of them.

If your wife has a heart to the exclusion of a brain, don't expect her to think with the former.

If you wish to convince her that you are a good husband show her that you still continue to be a good lover.

A husband's duties include willingness to go half way in any reconciliation—a self-respecting woman can not abase herself utterly—consideration for the fact that his wife is a weaker physical organism and recognition of her possible mental equality or even supremacy.

Remember that you are not your wife's servant, nor she yours, but that you're both on the equal plane of perfect, harmonious friendship.

A bird in the hand doesn't cause the early worm to worry.
